

By Anthony Bellano | Email the author | May 2, 2012

Tweet  1

Email

Print

1 Comment

Sponsored By

Sharon Schulman related a scary incident from January of this year.

“I thought I had everything wrapped up and he was coming in just to discuss what would be put up,” Schulman said. “Then he came in and said, ‘Let me ask you something. Why should I donate this stuff to Stockton and not to Rutgers?’ While I was trying to find an answer, I said, ‘Because you like me?’”

When William Hughes spoke a few moments later, he made a revelation: “I never had any doubts where this collection should be.”

On Wednesday afternoon, May 2, the Richard Stockton College of New Jersey dedicated the

“And his reasons were legitimate for not wanting to release it. He wanted Saddam Hussein to read it first, and not find out about it by reading it in the newspaper.”

---

---

---

---

Close

Advertise

Advertise on Patch and reach potential customers in your backyard and beyond. Click here for more information.

Volunteer

If you want to help local causes, or your cause needs local help, your next click should be right here.

Contribute

- Send us news tips
- Put an event on the calendar
- Announce something to everyone

---

Close