

To the editor:

I never cease to be amazed at how little people learn from history. It is as though there is amnesia for the facts of history.

A fine illustration of this is the column by Tom Williams, "A Gift for All: Gun Control." I laughed when I read his opening exhibit for successful gun control, communist China. Am I the only one who knows the major component of ours that is absent from China? That would be freedom.

Gun control is the hallmark of totalitarian regimes, from Hitler
