

“Broken Trust: Responding to Financial Elder Abuse and Exploitation” Seminar in Galloway

Free Workshop Presented by Stockton Center for Successful Aging on Oct. 24

For Immediate Release

Tuesday, October 2, 2012

Contact: Tim Kelly
Office of Public Relations
Galloway Township, NJ 08240
Tim.Kelly@stockton.edu
(609) 652-4950

Galloway Township, NJ- The Stockton Center on Successful Aging (SCOSA) will offer the free information session on Broken Trust: Responding to Financial Elder Abuse and Exploitation on October 24, 2012 at 11:00am in the Galloway Township Branch of the Atlantic County Library System on 306 East Jimmie Leeds Road here.

The workshop is presented by Greg Banks, author and Financial elder abuse is the number one crime against older in the United States, representing over $100 billion in losses, according to recent research. This program will provide information on the most common forms of financial abuse and perpetrator profiles. In addition, it will outline prevention tips and how to report suspected cases of abuse.

Visit the SCOSA website for updates – www.stockton.edu/scosa or call 609-626-3591 for more information.

#

