Galloway Township, NJ- The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey offers test preparation courses for students who wish to pursue an advanced degree or gain admission to law school.

The affordable, high quality courses provide excellent preparation for most of the required entry tests including GMAT, GRE or LSAT tests.

“These courses are taught by expert instructors who care about the students’ success,” said Nicole Milan-Tyner, Program Manager in the College’s Continuing Studies Division. “These are classroom-based prep courses which help students sharpen their knowledge base in areas where they need additional help or to reinforce what they have learned in their previous education.”

Each course includes 30 hours of instruction. Courses are scheduled to begin in February. For more information or to register, please visit www.stockton.edu/testprep or call 609-652-4227.
