

media, the fulfilling experience Naijasia was able to have during her stay on the beautiful island. When Naijasia finally arrived in the States at the end of the fall semester along with the Cypriot exchange student, Christiana Nicolaides, I was able to meet with them to discuss in person how fulfilling the experience was and what I could expect when I arrive and during my stay there. Throughout this meeting, Naijasia was glowing with excitement to let me into the world she had grown to love over her short stay. She was clearly thankful for the experience and to have been able to grow close with a community of students so far away from her home. She gave me a list of names, places, and tips and tricks for navigating that have so far proved to be an invaluable resource. Her strong words in favor of the
